

Marterie Signed For "Southern Enchantment"

By Joe Kneip

Ralph Marterie and his Downbeat orchestra, one of the nation's top bands, have been signed for St. Joseph's junior prom, May 14, according to an announcement by Joe Barnett and Joe Houser, co-chairmen.

The signing of Marterie in Chicago earlier this month paved the way for his return to St. Joseph's campus where he had appeared for the 1954 prom. It was because of the enthusiastic reception given the popular band leader last year that he was selected to play for this year's dance.

Tremendous Following

Annually chosen as one of the nation's best touring and recording bands by every important music poll, the Marterie aggregation has built a tremendous following, particularly throughout the midwest, since its organization in 1951.

Among the honors the group has received recently are ratings as the Headline band for 1954, by Billboard Magazine, and America's Most Promising Swing band for 1954, by Downbeat Magazine.

Danceable Beat

Following the policy that "The Public want good, sweet and tastefully arranged music with a danceable beat", Marterie has built up a sizeable store of dance arrangements to be presented at the prom. These arrangements, coupled with his popular recording numbers, make the Marterie band one of the best equipped in the United States.

Among the band's famous arrangements are their famous million record sellers: "Pretend", "Caravan", "Crazy Man Crazy", and "Skokiaan". Other Marterie hits include "Street Scene", "Dry Marterie", "The Creep", and "Persian Market".

Marterie carries one of today's larger music crews, with five trumpets (including Ralph's), four trombones, four reeds, and a four-rhythm section.

An instrumental star in his own right, Marterie is rated as one of America's finest trumpet players and is known to popular music fans as "The Man Born for the Horn."

James Plate is directing the first of the One-Acts. He has revised the third Act of the tragedy, "Our Town," by Thornton Wilder.

Gleason Nets "Our Town" Lead

The male lead has been given to Bill Gleason, who will play the Stage Manager. Playing opposite him in the female lead-role is Miss Helen Feldhaus as Emily Gibbs. Miss Mary Lonergan is portraying the part of Mrs. Webb. And Louise Shide is playing the role of Mrs. Gibbs.

For their supporting cast, Plate has chosen Bernard Balas, as Simon Stimson; Red Philbin as Mr. Seames; Bill Walters as Joe Stoddard; Bill Schuler as Sam Craig; Jim Kubacki as George Gibbs; and Jack Tobin will play the Dead Man.

Follow with Mr. Roberts

The second of the One-acts will be directed by John White and Charles Vietzen. They have chosen the second scene of Act I of the light comedy, Mr. Roberts.

The lead, Mr. Roberts, will be played by Bernard Balas. Opposite him is Bill Schuler who is enacting the role of Mr. Pulver. The supporting cast includes Red Philbin as Doc, and Ray Malik as the sailor Dolan.

Tentative plans for a third one act play are being made by the supervisor, Mr. Ralph Cappuccilli.

Best Play Travels to Marian

The production staff for the plays in the Rec Hall include Joe Bak, production manager and Terry Regnier as his assistant. The critic is Charles Rohan.

Farley to Address Graduates of '55

By John White

The president of the college, the Very Rev. Raphael Gross, has announced the speaker for the June 5th Baccalaureate services. He is James A. Farley, who will receive the honorary degree, Doctor of Laws.

The former Postmaster General has been in the public eye since 1912 when elected as Democratic town clerk of a very strongly Republican district. Because of this feat his reputation began its ascendancy. He became a member of the Democratic Committee of New York state and in this position was a prime mover in the rise of Franklin Delano Roosevelt to governor of that state.

In 1928 as a delegate to the National Democratic Convention, he was instrumental in obtaining the nomination for Al Smith. After the campaign he became Chairman of the state Democratic Committee of which he is still a member. Turning his attention once more to state politics, he finally secured the governorship for F.D.R.

Special Programs, Prayers to Mark 3 Day Adoration

By Dick Bender

The annual "Forty Hours" Devotion for St. Joseph's College will be held the weekend of Friday-Sunday, Feb. 25-27. This has been announced by Rev. Leonard Kostka, in charge of the Forty Hours schedule. The observance coincides with commencement of the Lenten season.

Devotions will open Friday morning with Solemn High Mass of the Blessed Sacrament, at 6:30 a. m. Mass will be followed by procession of the Blessed Sacrament, during which priests and congregation will chant the hymn, Pange Lingua, by St. Thomas Aquinas in honor of the Body of Christ. Following the procession, the monstrance with the Sacred Host will be returned to its throne on the main altar; the opening services will conclude with the Litany of the Saints.

Exposition of Blessed Sacrament

Friday evening at 6:30 will be Rosary, sermon, Seven Offerings and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. Saturday morning the Sacred Host will be exposed at 5:55, with Solemn Votive Mass for Peace at 6:25. Saturday evening at 6:30, there will again be special Forty Hours services, consisting of Rosary, Sermon, Litany of St. Joseph and Benediction.

Devotions will continue Sunday morning, with Exposition at 5:55. At 11:00 will be the Solemn Mass of Deposition, officially drawing Forty Hours to a close. This will be followed by Litany of the Saints, Procession and Benediction.

For these three days students will receive special slips, requesting them to sign up for special Devotional periods each day. This will guarantee Devotional watchers for every period. It will also determine the time for devotional periods of non-students, so the chapel will not be left empty.

Originated in Dalmatia

The Forty Hours' Devotion is a religious observance dating back many centuries: Its first known observance occurred in Dalmatia in the 12th century, following the widespread opinion of St. Augustine that the Body of Christ lay 40 hours in the tomb. In 1537, the services were held in Milan, Italy, to assure the people's participation to atone for the sins of Christians and help thwart Moslem invaders at that time threatening the city. The prayers were heard and thus Forty Hours was made permanent.

In 1592, Pope Clement VII called for observance night and day, so that "the whole year round the air of incense shall ascend without intermission before the face of the Lord." It was made permanent by Pope Paul V, May 10, 1606.

The devotion was first introduced in the United States in the Dio-

"American Scene" To Be Program By Noted Soprano

Miss June Kelly, dramatic soprano star of the La Scala Opera Company, will give a concert in the college auditorium Monday evening, Feb. 28. Miss Kelly will present, in costume, "The American Scene in Song" featuring American popular songs and ballads from the 18th century to the present. The concert will start promptly at 8:15 p.m.

Born in New York, Miss Kelly made her first public appearance at the age of three when she was chosen to sing an Easter anthem in church. Singing as a career came about accidentally. She was chosen to sing at school and at church amateur theatricals, and her success was always outstanding. When she finally decided to concentrate on singing, she immersed herself in music, studying and coaching operatic roles and doing extensive research into the history of American song.

One of her first accomplishments was the winning of a gold medal, the highest award of the Music Education League. The prize also included a concert appearance in Town Hall, New York.

Today, June Kelly is recognized by concert and opera audiences as an artist of distinction and charm.

We Owe It To Ourselves

In attempting to write a Lenten editorial which would be accepted and read by at least a part of the student body, we came upon an almost insurmountable wall of frustration. It has been only too evident in the past that any attempt to write or speak on a religious topic has been abruptly brushed aside by you, the students.

What are our reasons for this seeming indifference to God and His teachings? We can't just put Christ off forever. The day must come, and it should come soon, when we, as subjects of God, awake to the fact that He didn't die on the cross just to open the gates of heaven for us. Christ also died to show us that we must make sacrifice to God if we are to merit salvation.

Today is Ash Wednesday, and between now and Easter Sunday, we all have the chance to prove our love and loyalty to Christ. Are we going to ignore this chance as we have so many times in the past? If so, then let's not drag our friends along with us. It might be that there will be some of our friends honestly trying to gain spiritual merit this Lent, and there is nothing imaginable worse than inhibiting them from doing so.

What do we suggest you do to help accomplish your goal in life? It is difficult to lay down a set pattern of activity for the next few months and very few of us would keep up severe devotions anyway. If it is said with the proper attitude and devotion, even the simplest prayer can become majestic in the eyes of God. He does not ask us for an eternity of pain and suffering. God wants your soul, so why not give it to Him during Lent?

Back the Pumas

On Wednesday evening, March second, every St. Joe man should be in the field house cheering our Pumas on to victory over Valparaiso in the final game of the season.

The experts figure on a Valpo victory, but the experts don't add up Puma spirit in their statistics. The team has shown such spirit in each game, yet in spirit of the stands there has been something lacking. With the exception of the freshmen, the cheering at some of our games has been below par, in spite of the extraordinary efforts of our cheerleaders. Many students evidently feel cheering is unimportant, others only come to life when we take the lead. But it's important that the cheering be long and loud from the first minute of the game. Let's add school spirit to the spirit of the team and let them know that we're behind them all the way.

This will be the final game of their college career for seniors Willie Kellogg, Don Merki and Terry MacCarthy. No one will be wanting to win this game more than they. We owe it to them, in appreciation for the time and effort they have given in making St. Joe teams rank among the finest in the ICC, to be out there for the Valpo game.

We can't all be on the team but we can all be in the stands letting everyone know we're proud of our team and proud of St. Joseph's.

SEE YOU AT THE VALPO GAME.

Sixteen Seniors Prepare Theses For Graduation

by John White

According to the school catalog a student may graduate with honors providing he has completed an honors seminar in his own major field of concentration and has a general four year cumulative index of 2.00. This index, if less than a 2.50, merits graduation cum laude; above 2.50 and less than 2.75 secures magna cum laude; the highest honors summa cum laude is awarded any student who has completed his four years undergraduate work with more than a 2.75.

It must be noted that together with a high index an honors seminar is a requirement for graduation with honors. This is a course in independent study, extensive outside reading, and considerable research, all of which must be done in the student's major field. All the material so obtained is then developed into a thesis of approximately 8 to 10 thousand words and is submitted to a professor in the individual's field of endeavor.

Under the direction of Mr. John Ruble two of the men are preparing theses in accounting. They are Richard Finnegan of Chicago, and James Zid of Berwyn, Ill. Dick is dealing with Determination of Rates and Values and Depreciation. In the Biology department papers are being written by David Krigbaum and Lawrence Schmit. Dave, a native of Marion, Ohio, is completing a study of the Growing Complexity of the Chordate Ear. Larry, who hails from Brookfield, Ill., is compiling a Classification of Crayfish found in Jasper County.

In the Department of Business Mr. Paul Kelly is checking on the efforts of three more June graduates. Lawrence Doherty of Ottawa, Ill., has chosen a Current Analysis of the United States Foreign Trade Policy as his topic. William Feely, a resident of Brookfield, Ill., is preparing a study of Limited Budget Television Advertising. Establishment and Operation of a Dry Cleaning Business is the subject of Paul Rettig, a native of Crown Point, Ind.

Chemistry adds two more to the list—Frank Holzer of Indianapolis, Ind., and George Mach of Ottawa, Ohio. George has chosen Chromatography as his field of research. Frank is covering the technical subject, Preparation and Properties of P-N-Butylphenylalanine and P-Iso-Butylphenylalanine.

The English department's lone thesis is being written by Richard Bender of Ft. Wayne, Ind. With the help of the Rev. James Hinton, Dick has selected the subject of Catholic Journalism in the State of Indiana.

Maurice Garvey and George Kalafut represent the Economics department. Maurice's selection is a study of Labor as a Pressure Group, and George is writing on the future of the St. Lawrence seaway system. Guided by the Rev. Edward Maziarz, the Philosophy department has 3 men writing theses; namely, William Barrett and James Bruha of Chicago, and Edward Byrne of Peoria, Ill. Ed is writing on the Distinctions in St. Thomas; Jim on Proofs for the Existence of God from Motion, and Bill, on Fear as an Emotion and a Moral Determinant.

CANOE

An important question which has long been pending here on campus has finally come to a head and will be decided sometime over this coming weekend. The question is that of school colors. Long a battle between tradition and practicality, this topic will be put to a poll of the student body. Although this poll will not be a final vote, it will influence the Student Council and the Athletic department in arriving at a definite decision.

On the ballot the student will be given his choice of whether or not he desires a change in the colors. If he is in favor of a change, a list of possible combinations for new colors will be given and he will be asked to indicate which he prefers. Think it over and cast your vote this weekend.

Valentine Views

We can say a great deal about the work of the sophomore class in making this past mixer a success. Under the leadership of Jim Station the mixer committee contributed both time and effort to insure the students and the girls a good time. Before and after, many of the class could be found in the Rec Hall cleaning and fixing up. Some of the many workers were: Bill Swanston, Spike Ward, Ray Goberville, Brian McCarty, Buck Devlin, Ed Hughes, Larry Schmidt, Dick Butler, Frank Szymanski, Pat Hogan, Ed Byrnes, Al Salerno, Bill Morrison and Fran O'Reilly. We join with Jim Station in expressing a word of thanks to all who helped on the mixer.

Revealing the Ceiling

One of the most important financial decisions to face the Student Council in quite some time has to do with the acquiring of a false ceiling for the intramural court of the fieldhouse. In the past much time has been spent in providing a paper ceiling for the homecoming and the prom. A great deal of this time could be eliminated with the purchase of a cloth covering which would be attached to a frame lowered from and raised to the roof of the gym at will.

Although the advantages to this would be many there would be one big disadvantage, which would be, of course, the price. Since the purchase of this item would bring cost on future Councils who would gradually complete payment of the project, the present Council has decided to postpone their decision until after the election of next year's group.

Start Thinking

While on the subject of a new Student Council, we've been asked to remind you that April, that old election month, isn't too far away. So start thinking about whom you'd like to represent you next year.

Campus Craftsmen

With the approval of Father Schaefer and the Student Council, a new group is being formed on campus. The new organization will be composed of those fellows who are interested in the various handicrafts available in the hobby shop. Its purpose will be to create more active use of the machines and tools which have been placed at the disposal of the student body. Present plans call for many of the members to act as instructors on the nights in which their special field will be the main center of interest. One of the main organizers has been Joe Bak, who has enlisted the aid of several competent student supervisors willing to donate their time and effort. The main handicrafts offered will be woodworking, plastics, modeling and painting.

Mardi Gras Memories

Some 125 couples congregated in the Rec Hall last Saturday night to listen and dance to the music of Georg Brunis and his combo. Four hours of dancing completed the evening which had begun after the Ball State game. What made the evening more enjoyable was the effective new lighting which resulted in a jazzy color cycle. We feel assured that anyone who brought a date to the dance was well satisfied with the evening of entertainment.

National Federation of Pen Pals

Evidently the spirit throughout the rest of NFCCS is as bad as it is here on campus since after three months, less than one-fifth of the 180 schools in the organization have responded to the poll conducted by the National Awards committee, which is seated here on campus.

PUMATTERS

By Dick Obergfell

As the remaining games of the basketball season dwindle many teams are storing away the togs and looking toward the spring sports. But not the Pumas, at least not yet, the St. Joe hoopsters have been nominated as one of the teams to represent Indiana in the annual NAIA tournament in Kansas City. As things stand now their opponents are not known.

The other teams that will challenge the Pumas are Anderson, Franklin, Hanover, and possibly Evansville. Anderson, Franklin, and Hanover are members of the Hoosier Conference. The Purple Aces of Evansville have been nominated as the at-large representative from this region. If Evansville is selected, it will mean that the Aces will join the winner of the Indiana district playoff held March 1-2.

On the other hand, if the ICC leaders are not chosen they will act as host for the district prelim. The Pumas would play the winner of the Hoosier Conference (Anderson or Franklin) and Evansville would tangle with the runner-up. Should Evansville be selected they would bypass the Indiana tourney and St. Joe would play Hanover and Franklin would challenge the Anderson Ravens.

The finals will be held in Kansas City March 7-12. The Evansville game has been changed to Feb. 23 and the Valparaiso game will be played at Collegeville on March 4. The Evansville game was previously scheduled for Feb. 24 and the Valpo game for March 3.

While on the subject of basketball, Willie Kellogg, the Pumas sharp shooting guard, has a good chance to become the third player in the history of the school to score 1000 or more points in four years. Jack Dwyer was the first player to reach this peak. The Puma center scored a total of 1069 in his college career.

Don Merki was the second. Don broke the mark set by Dwyer and is currently setting a new school record. Don has 1382 so far this year. Kellogg has gathered a total 902 points so far this year. There are four games remaining on the schedule and at least one playoff game.

Sports in spots . . .

"The name's the same," in the ICC this year. There are four players in the Conference this year with the name of Cox. Clyde and Harold Cox perform for the Evansville Aces. Jimmy Cox is an all around athlete for Indiana State and Butler's outstanding freshman Wally Cox.

Indiana State was the first team to bring down the curtain on ICC competition. The Valpo game date had been changed twice this season. Bailly Robertson, Indiana Central's point getting guard, played his last game against the Pumas. Robertson collected 19 markers for the Greyhounds when they played in Collegeville is scholastic ineligible.

Six Teams Battle For Playoff Berth In IM League

As the second round of intramurals moves into the final stages, six teams are fighting it out for the playoff position. In league "A", the first round winner Berries are definitely out as a repeat winner. The Hungry Five and the Beefthrusters, the top two teams in the pre-season tournament, are deadlocked for the league lead with identical 4-1 records. The Thrusters pulled into a tie with a 37-26 victory over the Hungry Five.

Don Bredemann with 41 points in four games and teammate Gus Pasquini with 44 markers in as many games lead the "A" league in the scoring column. Both perform for the Hungry Five.

League "B", however, is a different story. The Stars and The Shooting Stars are battling it out for a playoff spot. Both the teams were first round winners. The plain ol' Stars, led by Bob Schmitz's 22 point average, have a clean slate with four wins and no setbacks. Schmitz leads all IM scorers by dumping in 89 points in four games. Paul Swierkowski of the Pianomovers has a one game record of 25 points. Swierkowski's output came in a losing cause against the Shooting Stars.

Swierkowski has a total of 37 points in three games. Gene Eifrid has 39 points in a trio of games and George Kalafut totals 35 tallies in as many contests. Eifrid plays with the Rebels and Kalafut with the Shooting Stars.

The Vets, who were involved in a three way tie for the first round championship in league "C", are claiming the top spot all to themselves. The Veterans have a 4-0 mark and scored a 47-23 victory over the Upsets.

Leading the Vets and the league in scoring are Kun and Batsmen with 40 and 37 points in three games. Jerry Bedankiewicz of the Shiels has 33 points in three games.

The play-off will start next week with the winners of each round and each league fighting it out for the trip to Loras College.

The Volleyball league starts this week with nine teams participating.

St. Joe to Face Evansville, Valpo

The Indiana Collegiate Conference's two top ranked teams will furnish some basketball opposition for the Pumas in their last two games of the 1954-55 season. Evansville, who is currently leading the league with an 8-2 record, will host the Collegeville crew on Feb. 23 and Valparaiso will invade the Puma den on March 2.

The Evansville Purple Aces had to settle for a tie last year for the conference championship but they are making sure that this will not happen again. The league leaders can boast of three of the leagues leading scorers in Jerry Clayton, John Harrowood and Bob Walker. Clayton totals 213 points in ten games for a 21.3 average. Harrowood's mark is 14.2 and Walker is hitting at a 12.4 clip. The team as a whole is averaging 83.2 points a game, good enough to lead the league in that department.

The Pumas fell before the rampaging Aces at St. Joe on Dec. 13, by a score of 105-91.

A long-awaited return match with the Valparaiso Crusaders will take place March 3 at Collegeville. Valpo cut a Puma rally short to down St. Joe 78-67 in the last meeting of the teams at Valparaiso.

Valpo is number two team in the ICC standings with a 7-3 record. They have a fine scoring punch led by center Jim Howard and forward Ed Eckart. Howard is averaging 13.1 points per game and Eckart is 10.8 in scoring.

Pumas Top Cards To Even Record

An account was settled in full Saturday night at Collegeville as St. Joseph's Pumas downed the Cardinals of Ball State 72-64 in an Indiana Collegiate Conference game.

The victory evened the ledger between the two teams as the Pumas gained revenge for an earlier 86-75 beating at Muncie. It also balanced St. Joe's won and lost record at 9-9 and gives the Pumas a conference record of 3-6.

Grizzlies Maul Pumas 78-68

The Grizzlies of Franklin College gave evidence of why they are leading the Hoosier Conference as they downed St. Joseph's 78-68 at Franklin.

The Pumas held one-point leads of 50-49, 53-52, 55-54 and 64-63 late in the game, but the torrid second half shooting of the Grizzlies proved too much for St. Joe. Franklin hit 16 of 29 attempts in the second half for a .550 shooting percentage.

By playing a slow, deliberate offense against St. Joe's zone throughout the early stages of the game and by outrebounding the Pumas, Franklin gained a 33-30 advantage at halftime largely due to the shooting of Charlie Rohan.

With Don Merki effectively stopped by the Franklin defense, the early scoring load was carried by Willie Kellogg and Ray Banary.

At the outset of the second half the hometeam raced to a 43-32 lead as St. Joe went seven minutes without scoring a basket. Kellogg then broke the ice with a jump shot that started a St. Joe rally. John Tully came into the game at this point and teamed with Kellogg to put St. Joe ahead 50-49 with eight minutes to play.

The lead changed hands eight times in the next four minutes before Dick Fisher put Franklin in the lead 67-64. The Grizzlies then ran the score to 74-64 and coasted home.

Kellogg led the scorers with 22 points, Banary following with 15. Tully turned in a good floor game and added 14 points. Rohan topped Franklin with 18 points.

The game was not as close as the final score would indicate, as St. Joe held 25-point leads several times in the second half and never trailed.

A sizzling display of first half shooting by the Pumas, 16 baskets in 34 shots, gave them a 41-19 lead at intermission. Willie Kellogg and Renald Tonielli were doing most of the damage from the outside and Don Merki collected 13 points in close.

The Ball Staters, who were bothered by poor shooting in the first half, soon found the range as the second half opened, but their scoring was offset by the Pumas' Ray Banary, who threw in five set shots in as many attempts, to boost the score to 53-29 with 15 minutes left. St. Joe continued to build their lead for another five minutes when, with the score at 61-36, Coach Dick Scharf turned the game over to the substitutes.

Merki snapped out of his scoring slump to lead the Pumas with 22 points. Kellogg and Banary had 16 each and Tonielli added 12. Substitute Wayne Van Sickle topped Ball State with 16 points.

Scharfmen Halt Greyh'ds, Fall to Butler in ICC Tilt

The St. Joe Pumas lost the one that counted in their two consecutive games with Indianapolis foes. The Butler Bulldogs kept their conference hopes alive by edging the visiting Pumas 80-72. The Indiana Central Greyhounds, however, were turned back 77-73 on the Collegeville court.

Coach Tony Hinkle's Bulldogs went into the St. Joe game with a 5-3 record and needed a victory to remain in contention for the ICC crown. They got the victory only after they lost a 12 point advantage piled up in the first half. Wally Cox and Dave Sheetz lead the way as the Bulldogs leaped to a 38-30 halftime advantage. Of the visitors 30 points Willie Kellogg, Ray Banary and John Tully accounted for 24 markers.

Late in the second half the Pumas went ahead on a long two hander by Tim O'Brien. St. Joe lost their only lead of the game a minute later as Dave Sheetz hit a lay up to put the Indianapolis squad ahead for good.

Wally Cox lead all scorers with 23 points, and teammate Sheetz added 17 more. Willie Kellogg, John Tully and Don Merki divided 42 points equally and Ray Banary collected 13. Merki, who had been averaging better than 25 points per game, was held to two field goals. The remainder of his points came via the foul stripe.

St. Joe beat Butler at the Collegeville fieldhouse 72-49 earlier in the season.

Four of Indiana Central's starters combined efforts and collected 56 points, but the Pumas managed to turn back the Greyhounds 77-73 in a see-saw battle last week.

The visiting 'Hounds found the range early and jumped to a 30-18 lead. Willie Kellogg and Ray Banary then put on their shooting clothes and shoved the Pumas to a 42-39 halftime lead.

IC regained their lead shortly after the second half began on a basket by guard Dave Curtis. The two teams fought it out on an even keel for five minutes until Dick Nyers and Bailey Robertson boosted Central to a 61-56 advantage.

Banary again found the range and, aided by Terry MacCarthy's three baskets, blew the game wide open as the Scharfmen ran the score to 77-67 in their favor.

Banary, Kellogg and MacCarthy did the bulk of the scoring for St. Joe. Banary finished with 23 points, while Kellogg and MacCarthy added 16 apiece. Bob Jewell's 20, Bailey Robertson's 19 and Dick Nyers' 17 topped the visitors scoring.

Fulbright Scholar Studies American Government

By Owen Weitzel

On the morning of October 9, 1954, Franz Albert Eschbach arrived in New York from his home in Germany. After spending a few days with his relatives he left New York and arrived in Rensselaer on the 13th of October. He then became a full time student at St. Joseph's College.

Before enumerating his activities and experiences in the United States, let us look first at his life history.

Franz was born in Schleiden/Eifel in Rhineland. This town is located near the once powerful Siegfried Defense Line which separated Germany from France and Belgium. It was in this town that the Eschbachs resided until 1944 when the allies started their drive toward Germany.

Franz Eschbach

Brothers Killed

While Schleiden was being sieged, Franz and his parents retreated to a small town across the Rhine River, where they stayed for a year. In 1945 they returned to their home, which they found 80 percent destroyed. However, the greatest loss to Franz and his family was the death of his two brothers during the war.

The process of clearing and rebuilding the destroyed home was the most important thing to be completed then immediately both he and his father helped in restoring their home to its original state.

Fulbright Plan

In 1951 Franz entered the University of Bonn, a school of 7000 students. While there, he majored in Social and Economic History. To fulfill his desire of knowing the American system better he sought to enter the United States as a student. This desire became a reality in the form of the Fulbright Plan. This is a Student Exchange plan between the United States, European and Asiatic countries. Under its provisions the length of time in school in the U. S. would be one year. As a result, Franz is able to pursue his studies of the American Government first hand.

When he finishes his formal education, he would like to enter some form of European Politics. With Europe becoming more and more united as distances grow shorter and populations expanding, he believes many job opportunities will develop from these unions. An example of European cooperation is the Montan-Union (Schuman Plan) which unites the coal and steel production of six Western countries.

Since his arrival in the United States, Franz has visited some of our principle cities such as New York, Chicago, Toledo, Indianapolis and Flint. Before he returns to Europe next August, he would like to see many more parts of the United States.

From the time of his entry, many people have invited Franz to their home. To this he replies: "I have often heard of American Hospitality while in Europe, and after having visited a few families here, I must say that they have made me feel as though I were at Home."

Student Council Considers Appeal For Hobby Shop

The Student Council is considering the possibility of inaugurating a work shop "Hobby Club" under the management of Joseph Bak. The purpose of such a club would be to have its members work together on hobbies and also help other students learn the techniques of using the various tools in the hobby shop. Final approval will be withheld by the Council until it has been determined whether or not the group can operate satisfactorily as a club, and until they submit a constitution for approval.

Student Poll for School Colors

The Council decided to take a student poll concerning the advisability of changing the school colors and also about a possible combination. Jim Zid and Joel Francoeur have taken charge of the matter and it will be taken care of at a later date.

It was learned by the Council that the tournaments for ping-pong, pinocle, etc., must be held before the second week in March in order to send teams to Loras college to compete in the extramural meet. Jim Station and Joel Francoeur will supervise the tournaments here at St. Joe.

Juniors Win $50

The Junior class was declared winner of the $50 prize for best attendance at the Valpo game. They had 65 percent present to the Senior class' 60 percent.

The Council appropriated $25 to the Polio Fund Drive here on campus. It was announced that a financial report and the minutes of Student Council meetings will be available for students to consult in the library at a time to be announced later.

the office of Democratic National Chairman to Farley. He was to serve in this capacity for a number of years. Besides party duties, he was appointed Postmaster General in 1933. Holding this cabinet post until his resignation from office in 1940. He was the first Postmaster General to balance the postal budget since the Wilson administration, despite a serious cut in postal rates.

Farley thus acquired many laurels in his political career, but failed to gain the highest. President Roosevelt's try for a third term prevented his securing the 1940 presidential nomination. After 28 years of public service he re-entered private life. Retaining his position as state Democratic chairman for four years.

He is now ready to devote full time and effort to business interests. Joining the Universal Gypsum Company as a bookkeeper, Mr. Farley was not destined to remain long in that capacity. He rose rapidly in the organization until its merger with several other companies to form the General Building Supply Corporation. Upon this formation, he became president of the corporation. In 1949 he was once again reelected to the position of president and director. At present he is a director for both the Coca-Cola Corporation and the New York Central Railroad.

Family Theater, Advertising Firm Institute Family Prayer Campaign

In many cities throughout the United States painted signboards similar to the above occupy conspicuous locations. This outdoor campaign for the promotion of family prayer has been instituted by Family Theater, producer of a weekly half hour dramatic radio program heard over the Mutual Net work.

Family Theater has, for the past seven years, utilized all forms of communication for the single purpose of promoting the practice of prayer, with particular emphasis on family prayer. Because the family is the keystone upon which a sound and happy nation is built, Family Theater strives to impress upon all people of a sorely-distressed world the great value of, and the great need for, prayer.

The Foster and Kleiser Outdoor Advertising Company, has, for the past six years, cooperated with Family Theater by donating material and advertising space as a public service. Currently, Foster and Kleiser have 18 of these huge painted signboards (12 1/2 feet high and 47 feet wide) located throughout Washington, Oregon, California and Arizona.

At present date, Family Theater also has a supply of 24-sheet posters which are available to any outdoor advertising company wishing to take part in this campaign for the restoration of a time-honored custom, family prayer within the home. The posters may be obtained, at no charge, by writing Family Theater, 7201 Sunset Boulevard, Hollywood, Calif.
